RESOLUTION PAYS TRIBUTE TO EX-BURSAR

Board of Governors Eulogize
Work of Mr. Vaughan

LONG SERVICE

Twenty-one Years of Work
for University

A warm tribute to the memory of Mr. Vaughan, for some time secretary and bursar, was but lately issued from the university, in the form of a resolution adopted at a meeting of the Board of Governors. This resolution reads as follows:—

"Resolved, that the Governors of McGill record in their minutes their deep sense of loss in the death of Walter Vaughan, Master of Arts of this University, and formerly secretary and bursar; they would express their great and sincere appreciation of the energy with which for twenty-one years he spent himself lavishly and bountifully in faithful service to McGill, the results of which cannot vanish with his death; they remember him as active in business, unflinching in purpose, disinterested in kindness, magnanimous in courtesy, with strong and simple principles of character and life; and in their regret at his early decease they would record their gratitude that in passing to his rest from the fever and the fret of earthly existence, which he always bore with faith and hope and cheer, he has left to his associates and to the university the abiding and cherished memory of a wise counsellor, a courageous comrade, an inspiring personality and always loyal and considerate friend."

By such a tribute McGill attempts to express her appreciation for the man to whom she owes so much, a man of whom she knew for too little, because of his deep distaste for anything like posturing in the public eye. In the case of a man like Mr. Vaughan McGill students will be only too glad to learn some details of his career.

Born in 1865 of Welsh parents, living on the borderland of Wales, he was early educated at a boarding school near London. Though handicapped by physical delicacy, he took part in all sports and at the same time was an easy winner

PRESIDENT OF THE C.I.A.U. RETICENT

Prof. Ernest Brown Refuses to be Quoted

Professor Ernest Brown, President of the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union would give very little definite information regarding any recent development in the Union, when he was approached by a representative of the McGill Daily last evening. When questioned regarding a meeting of the C. I. A. U. executive, rumored to have been held in Kingston a day or so ago, Professor Brown steadfastly refused to give an opinion that might be cited as authentic, stating that it would serve no useful object, and would only be the basis of more rumors.

THE CONVERSAT.

Plans for the Conversat, that great annual event of untold social importance, are well under way and it is expected that this important function will take place towards the end of next week, in all probability on Friday evening.

This Conversat is held for the purpose of getting the students acquainted and it offers an excellent chance for the freshmen to meet the co-eds from the Royal Victoria College. Freshmen, seniors, juniors and sops. all gather together to mingle with the R.V.C.-ettes and spend a pleasant evening. It is a very popular function and always attracts a large number of students.

Those in charge of the Conversat are planning to make some novel changes in this year's programme and more will be announced concerning this event in the very near future.

UNIVERSITY MEET TAKES PLACE TODAY

Interfaculty Competition
Will be Keen

MANY ENTRIES

Possibility of Several Records
Being Broken

Today the annual University Sports will be held at the Stadium. In spite of the fact that no holiday has been granted for the event and the men running in the meet will have to sacrifice their attendance, it is expected that there will be a representative attendance of students on hand to support their group of men who have been at the track for the past five weeks, getting into shape for the coming meet. The meet will start at two-fifteen. Besides being the initial appearance of this year's team the competition between the various faculties is keen. This year the fixture takes the form of an inter-faculty affair instead of the usual inter-class meet and all the various faculties are out to score victories. The Meds. have the best known men but Science out-numbers and almost equals them in sure point winners. This year, however, as never before, surprises are due to come even to the most hardened rail birds. Men who are almost unknown are apt to score wins and several new-comers to the college show promise of romping in with victories.

Law and Commerce both have small team entered, but who will win between them is still doubtful. Law has as a star in Gaboury, the holder of the college pole vault record. Beside this event he is also entered in the shot, discus and broad jump, and shows considerable promise in these events. He is almost certain of a win in the pole vault unless new men at the game show up above their usual form. Wednesday the meet at Toronto was won by nine feet six inches. Francis, however, was at the time laid up with a bad ankle so that his ability in the cold weather is as yet not known.

The sprints today will be hotly contested events. Cee Hay, the team captain and winner this year of the Dominion four-forty championship, is entered in the three shorter distances as is Johnson, this year's president of the Track Club, and high point winner last year in the intercollegiate meet. Johnson is running well this year and will be pushed by the new Science runner, Patterson, who last week astounded the rail birds by walking through the sprints in almost record time on a wet day with a soft track and no actual close competition. The runner is a possibility the like of which has not been had in some time. He has a long stride and with a year's training should develop into a record-breaker. Last week he ran the hundred in ten-three once in a heat and repeated the performance in the final. The University of Toronto have a runner who romped the hundred in ten-two on Wednesday. Vince is the star's name and he also tore down the 220 in twenty-three

LARGE CROWD OF ROOTERS AT PRACTICE

Rooter's Band in Attendance

GREAT ENTHUSIASM

Caps and Tickets on Sale
Tonight at Practice

The Rooter's practice held at the Union yesterday proved that if encouragement can win a game, then McGill need have no fear of losing any games this season. The rooters were many and willing, especially so since they were led by such experts in the art of rooting as Messrs. "Nuts" Nutting, Bob Davies, and Jeff Harding. Several new yells were introduced, which made a great hit with everybody present.

Bert Tremaine was on the platform, giving his moral support to the rooters. Messrs Nutting, Davies, and Harding took time leading the yells. At the end of the practice it was announced that rooter's caps were for sale, and immediately the platform was mobbed with eager buyers.

These caps will also be on sale at the lunch hour in the Union to-day, and again at to-day's final practice, which it taking place at 5.15 p.m. At this practice, which will it is hoped be even better attended than was last night's, the results of the competition for the song parodies and new yells, will be announced, and the winner will receive their prize money in the shape of tickets for to-morrow's game. It is requested that all those men who have sent contributions be present, as if any contributor is of the opinion that his yell or song has not been put on in the right way, he will then have the opportunity of demonstrating it personally. The Rooter's Band will also be in attendance at this practice. The members of the band have been practising very hard, and have now developed into a very fine organization. Several of the new song parodies, as well as all the old "stand by's" are now included in their repertoire, and they will be on hand to help raise the roof this afternoon. There is still room for any men who can play, as the Rooter's band, which forms the chief attraction in the Rooter's Parades, can never be too large.

Once again, then, let every student be on hand at the meeting to get a hat and buy a ticket.

MONTREAL, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1922.

THE INTERFACULTY MEET.

The second Friday of the University Session has for many years past been the occasion of the University Interfaculty Sports Meet, and to-day therefore is "The Day" for the followers of McGill's third major Sport. In past years the day has been set apart as a University holiday by the Corporation, but although this year no holiday has been granted, the keenness and enthusiasm usually displayed by the Student Body is if anything ever greater than on previous occasions. With some eighty entries, and every Faculty in the University well represented, there seems to be little doubt but that the meet will be successful in every respect.

The meet carries with it the added interest that on the form shown by the various competitors depends the personnel of the Intercollegiate team, which will represent McGill at the Interfaculty contest to be held a week from to-day; the University meet providing an excellent means of judging the relative merits of the various aspirants by actual performance in competition. The outcome of to-day's meet should also be interesting, inasmuch as it should provide a good forecast of McGill's chance of winning a fifth successive Championship.

The chief interest is, however, in the Interfaculty Competition. In past years many keenly contested meets have been held, and from a survey of the entry list which is printed in another column, it seems assured that this year will be no exception. The outstanding performers are well distributed among the several Faculties, and the large list of entries would seem to presage that the result of the meet will not be decided until the last event is run.

in scholastic contests. In a few years, having exhausted the resources of the school he successfully passed the matriculation examination of the University of London, then, as now, the severest of entrance tests, while still too young for college. After spending some time as the private pupil of Dr. Richard Morris, the Morris of the Morris and Skeat volumes, his ability so won the praise of his friends that before long he was correcting university honor examination papers.

Shortly after this, however, he turned his attention to the study of Law. Though for a year too ill to carry on his work, he recovered safely and was later called to the Bar. His many friends predicted a brilliant career for him, the Chancellorship being the natural end, but realizing the tediousness and possible uncertainty of the course before him, he abandoned the legal profession and sailed for Canada.

In Canada at the age of twenty-five he is to be found in the employ of the C.P.R., and during the seven years he spent there he laid the foundation for his biography of the late Sir William Van Horne, which appeared twenty-five years later.

In 1897 he entered the bursar's office of this university, and for the next twenty-one years of his life gave his time and energy to McGill. These twenty-one years saw the expansion of McGill into a greater McGill under the principalship of the late Sir Wm. Peterson and the Chancellorship of the late Sir Wm. Macdonald, saw the foundation of both the Royal Victoria and Macdonald Colleges, years of growth and increased responsibilities and greater problems on every side. As bursar during these years, Mr. Vaughan worked unceasingly and as the reputation of his clear intelligence and vision spread, no question of administration or policy could be settled without an attempt at consultation with him regarding the advisability of such a step. A modest and to a certain extent an indifferent man when the university conferred upon him an honorary degree he was not present to receive it, excusing himself under the plea of pressure of duties.

In 1918 he retired from McGill, fitting recognition for his services being shown in a beautifully worded resolution of appreciation and regret passed by the Board of Governors, and read by the late Sir William Peterson, whom he had served so faithfully.

Not strong physically, for two years he had been forced to leave McGill for his health, yet when 1918 came with its demand for service he returned home and entered the Ministry of National Service as helper under Sir Auckland Geddes. In a short time he became Secretary of the Ministry, and when the war ended, he was left alone with the heavy task of demobilizing the thousands in London and the regions comprising a ministerial staff, his superior having way on other service.

Returned to America to try his health by travel and in the next few years he spent in California and Southern Europe, and during this time appeared his "Life and Work of Sir William Van Horne," which work, critics would rank with the great biographies of the English language.

Again seriously ill, he returned to Montreal and in the Royal Victoria Hospital fought his last fight with disease facing death with the same calm philosophy which at all times had defied his illness.

In 1918 Mr. Vaughan had married Miss Susan Cameron, who at that time was a lecturer in the English Department and a member of the resident staff of R.V.C., being Vice-Warden. Miss Cameron was greatly beloved by every student who came beneath her sway and her departure from R.V.C. was greatly regretted by everyone. Mrs. Vaughan has but lately returned to take up her residence in Montreal, where her many friends have been happy to greet her again.

ENGLISH RUGBY TEAM IMPROVES

No regular scrum practice was held by the English Rugby Club yesterday, but a very good workout during the course of which Coach Prof. Matthews showed the squad a few of the finer points of the game, was held. Special attention was paid to the forwards in an endeavor to develop a good scrum, the men being tried out in different positions until a well balanced pack was obtained. The coach then gave the men a good drill in heeling the ball, and a great deal of improvement was shown. This is a department of the game which absolutely must be mastered by any team before they can hope to win any games, as unless the pack can obtain possession of the ball at least as often as their opponents the team is placed at an almost hopeless disadvantage, unless their forwards are particularly good at dribbling, which skill only comes after years of practice. However, there is a daily improvement in the forwards, and when the first string men have had a little more opportunity to work together, a well balanced and hard working pack should result.

The three-quarters and halves were given some much needed tackling practice yesterday, and while fairly good at this work, there is room for a lot of improvement. The coach gave them a half hour's workout, five men being sent up the field at a time with five men waiting to tackle them, and towards the end of the practice it was the exception for a man to break through.

This afternoon at 4.30 p.m. a practice game is being held, and the following are asked to turn out, as well as any others who have not been out as yet:—"A" Team—Full back, MacAnity; three-quarters, Marpole, Cooper, H. C. P., McNamee, MacDonald; halves, Cooper, J. R., Holman; forwards, Wilson, Walter, Taylor, Nerontsos, Cleland, McLeod, McGown, Robertson.

"B" Team—Full back, McLeod, A. N.; three-quarters, Woolcombe, Eve, Wise, Nash; halves, Price, Murray; forwards, Mitchell, W., O'Brien, Laidlaw, G. McDonald-Smith, A. A., Branch, Everett, Beck.

SUNDAY SINGS TO START THIS WEEK

Date of Conversat to be Announced Shortly

The Sunday evening sings will recommence at Strathcona Hall on Sunday evening, October 15th, at half-past eight. This will be a welcome announcement for many, because sings during the past have been exceedingly popular among the student body.

To the uninitiated the definition of a "sing" may be a necessity but all who have reached the rank of sophomore know, either by indirect or direct knowledge, just what a sing is. However, as there is an unlighted body in existence, an explanation of a sing will be given. The idea is as follows: On Sunday night one does not always know just what to do in the big city of Montreal. Some stay at home, some go to church, and some amuse themselves in other ways. So, for those who wish it, the S.C.A. holds each Sunday evening in Strathcona Hall that event, which has become widely known as a sing. Here a congenial crowd gathers at half-past eight and the sons and daughters of James McGill pass a pleasant social hour. Hymns, are sung, light refreshments usually are served, and an excellent opportunity is given to meet new acquaintances and to develop new friendships.

Last year these weekly events attracted a great deal of attention and it was not an uncommon thing to see sixty or seventy students gathered together in the reading room at the Hall on Sunday evening.

So it is not an unreasonable conjecture, to say that the opening announcement will be welcome and it is expected that a large number will be present for the first sing of the season on Sunday evening.

ARTS JUNIOR YEAR APPOINTED OFFICERS

The election of the class executive of Arts '24, the Junior Year in that faculty, took place yesterday morning resulting in the appointment of the following: President, Cecil T. Teakle; Vice-president, E. Ryckman Alexander; Secretary, James K. McLetchie; Treasurer, Laurence C. Tombs. The appointment of C. T. Teakle to the presidency was a very popular one, as he served the interests of the class last year in an able manner as Vice-president. It is the intention of the Arts Junior Year executive to spare no efforts to make their year memorable in the annals of the faculty. An important meeting, at which all members are urged to attend, will be held at one o'clock to-day in Room 105.

FIRST MEETING OF CANADIAN CLUB

New Officers Elected for Coming Year

The McGill Canadian Club met at 5.30 yesterday afternoon in the Union, with a much larger attendance than usual. Last year's president, H. B. O'Heir, presided and read the report of the club's activities last year, regretting the fact that the club had been able to hold but one meeting, and hoping for greater success in the coming year.

The new executive for 1922-23 was then elected as follows: Honorary President, Sir Arthur Currie; President, R. K. Jones; Vice-President, W. B. Brewer; Secretary, C. D. Everett.

A vote of thanks was extended to last year's executive. O'Heir, in his reply, after expressing his appreciation, pointed out the very great difficulties, which would be encountered by the new executive in securing speakers of sufficient prominence to attract any large number of students.

President-elect R. K. Jones, in his address, while admitting that great difficulties would be encountered, expressed his belief that these difficulties would be overcome and that prominent speakers would be secured who will ensure large meetings of the Canadian Club throughout the coming year.

Announcements concerning plans for McGill's Canadian Club will be made at an early date.

DOWN BY THE DOCKS.

Cold was the night and hastening gloom Drove me into a dark and dingy room, Where many a rousing tale was told By soldiers young and sailors old, Who gathered together at eventide, Down by the docks, Where the ships come in.

I entered in and took a look, Saw a mate, his men and a galley cook, And a stalwart giant with grizzled beard (Loved by his friends, by others feared), Who was singing a song of the cruel sea, Down by the docks, Where the ships come in.

He sang of life, he sang of death, Of the times when he felt the freezing breath Of north winds sweeping o'er the waves— Those ever-restless, yawning graves, Which wait for those who ride the boundless deep. And they all joined in: "Let the wave be my tomb! Let the billow close o'er me! Let me die as I lived On the water that bore me!"

But not or me—I love the land, With mountains, placid lakes and trees, whose grand Old tips bend with the singing wind, These are the longings of my mind; Ne'er do I wish the life of those who sang Down by the docks, Where the ships come in. —(Awit, apologies to Dianthos).

FABLE OF THE LINE.

Once upon a time a country lass called Annaline came up from the wilds of Emeryville to attend the "Great" University. When she arrived at that Seat of Learning she looked like anything but a Typical Co-ed, but being naturally Bright and more or less Observing, it soon dawned upon her that all was not Well with her general Get-up, and she promptly hid herself to the nearest Beauty Shop, emerging a lapper. Still not satisfied with her Transformation, she decided to develop a Line. This became so strong that it was known by all the Prominent Men, and before long Annaline was playing before Standing-room Only.

This naturally interfered with her studies, and the jealousy on the Women made it difficult for her to hold her Room-mate's notes. Things went from Bad to Worse; it was evident that the only thing left to do was to Vamp the Professors.

After a Profound Study of this gentle art, Annaline found that a Sweet Smile would go farther than Pies like mother used to make. However, a certain Professor was absolutely Unimpressible and Invulnerable. Desperate at last, our heroine bestowed a Sweeter Smile than usual upon the pedagogue, and was rewarded by an Invitation to his Office. Her joy, however, was quenched with Cold Water, as a Forebode Lecture on flirting was, her only reception. Poor Annaline, now completely floored, gave up the Profession of Vamping as a practical means of Support, and her Line has become Extinct.

QUEEN'S CONFIDENT

Presbyterians to Arrive Tonight—Probable McGill
Line-up.

With but one more day before the most crucial McGill-Queen's game in years the followers of the Red and White football team's fortunes are speculating as to the line-up which Frank Shaugnessy will place on the field tomorrow, with the hope of withstanding the attack of the much heralded Kingston twelve. The McGill coach has been shifting the players around quite a bit since the Varsity game in an effort to find the most capable combination and the make-up of the team is still speculative.

In order to fill up the vacancy left in the backfield by Philpotts' forced absence, Baker, a new-comer from the West, and Walsh, who has been playing middle wing, are being tried out as half-backs. Both men have lots of speed and Walsh has the necessary weight for a good line-plunger, but neither one excels in the kicking department of the game. Little and Flanagan are the other half-backs and both are sure to start in the contest. Flin seems to have improved in the week's practice and is due to give a good performance against Queen's. In yesterday's workout Flanagan scarcely made a fumble and picked up a number of difficult catches in handy fashion. The veteran half-back has been spending considerable time in training his kicking toe and recently sent over a number of pretty goals from placement.

It has not been definitely decided who will occupy the quarter-back position. Carroll will probably start, but Shaugnessy has been trying out Eddie Cram at that job and it is possible that he may be heard shouting signals on Saturday. While Eddie has been at the pilot's berth Newton has been filling in a flying wing and will probably see some action from that position. Other substitute backfield men who will probably be called upon are Pierce, who suited for Flanagan and Philpotts in the Varsity game, and Amaron.

McGregor at centre is a certainty. Doug is a snappy pivot man and is very steady on the defense. Foss at left inside is sure to start. Next to centre on the right side will probably be seen Gamble, though "Zeke" so far has been showing very little form. Captain Ambridge will play left middle wing and Manson is trying out for that position on the other side of the line. Woodruff, former Yale Freshman, is also being used as a middle and is almost sure of getting into the game.

As it looks at present Fife and Dyer, new-comers to the squad, will probably start at the outside wing positions. Both these men have gotten on to Shag's system already and are expected to bolster up the two ends. Jack Easson is still out with a slight case of water on the knee and Charlie Robertson will likely be first substitute at outside wing.

The Queen's men who were reported to be on the sick list recently have all recovered and the tri-color will present its strongest line-up on Saturday.

HOUSE COMMITTEE
ADOPT NEW PLANS

Cleaning and Pressing Service to Open in Union

Several new features in the year's programme were brought forward at the meeting of the Union House Committee held yesterday afternoon. It is proposed to establish, in connection with the new cloak room which will shortly be opened in the basement of the Union, a cleaning and pressing service. The cloak room attendant will be skilled in that line of work, and it is hoped that the students will take advantage of this convenience.

The informal dances, so popular in past years, will this year be started a little sooner, in order to avoid any danger of press of studies towards the end of the year, preventing any students hoped that every dance will be well attended.

So far, financially, the Union cafeteria has been doing very well. The daily receipts for last week averaged $150.00, and this week they have been more. The new management and increased accommodation seem to be proving popular with the student body.

Confidence Must Be Natural.

On Wednesday the University of Toronto, held their Sports Day. Francis, the pole vaulter, was not able to enter because of an injury to his foot. Bell won a total of fifteen points, scoring a first in the hammer, discus and shot put. Vince made some pretty times in the short sprints. DENTAL STUDENTS
SUCCUMB TO STAFF

Large Crowd Attended
Game of Indoor Baseball

The indoor baseball season was ushered in with a bang at the Montreal High School gym yesterday afternoon, when the 4th Year Dentals stacked up against the Dental Staff.

Miss Dixon threw out the first ball and the game began. The Dental Staff at once proceeded to teach the aspiring Dentists something more than pulling teeth. Their brand of baseball was so dazzling to the coming dentists that at times the students seemed completely anaesthetized.

The Staff players proceeded to extract hit after hit from the gentle offerings of Brown, the student's twirler whereas Professor Melvin Moore who pitched for the Staff team mixed his offerings well and had the Senior dentals at his mercy. When the agony was finally over the Dental Staff stood on the long end of a 22 to 12 score.

The game was featured by Dr. Driver's heavy drives, which were not driven far enough, however. Dr. Hart at times ran wild on the bases and on one occasion toppled over big Si McNally, who recovered and managed to put in a good game for the losers.

Drs. Lefebvre and McSweeney each scored four runs for the winners while Bourke, with two homers, starred for the losers. Dr. Common's catching was almost perfect, but it is doubtful if he will be able to handle any of his patients for the next few days, after stopping Moore's fast ones.

The crowd was the largest that ever watched the two teams battle and it is expected that the Third Year Dentals are seeking to vindicate the defeat of their seniors.

The line up:—

Fourth Year:—Gross, c; Brown, p; Stream, 1st b; McNally, 2nd b; Bourke, 3rd b; Harris, L. short; Laishley, R. short; Kent, L. field; Abrahams, R. field.

At first it was a neat affair,
Built out of wood, inlaid with care;
A triumph to its owners style,
But had all others beat a mile.

On all its journeys to and fro,
Its owner always held it so.
Its owner took it first to school,
And then used it for luck at pool.

The boys up at the house now came
To use it much and spread its fame,
Until its owner at last lost track,
Of his old pipe upon the rack.

TENNIS FINALS
CREATE INTEREST

Splendid Form Shown in
Semi-finals

Great interest has been aroused among tennis enthusiasts of R.V.C. in the recent tournament, when especially good form has been shown by the contestants. The result of the semi-finals yesterday proved very interesting when Miss Stocking defeated Miss Leggett, the score being 6-2 and 6-4. Miss Robertson defeated Miss Campbell, with a score 6-3 and 6-3. The deciding match will be played today, between Miss Robertson and Miss Stocking.

The play was particularly interesting in the second set of the game between Miss Leggett and Miss Stocking when both played splendid returns from the back line. Miss Stocking's clever placing and back-hand strokes proved too much for Miss Leggett, who put up a good fight.

The game between Miss Campbell and Miss Robertson was also of much interest, both players showing good form. Miss Robertson's steady game served her in good stead, while Miss Campbell's returns were interesting to watch.

The second round of the consolation tournament must be played off by Friday night. Play as follows:—

Roy vs. Perrin.
Slack vs. winner of Secord and Bingham.

Perry vs. Silver.
R. Dutton vs. M. McEighorn.
I. Millen vs. E. Dutton.
Winner of Spier and Hertzberg, bye.

MEDS. IN WORKOUT
ON OLD CAMPUS

Many New Men Turning Out
With Team

The first practice of the Medicine Football team was held yesterday afternoon on the old Campus, and a very satisfactory workout was the result.

Many new-comers appeared, most notable among whom were Roseborough from Alberta and Zinc, who hails from the Maritime Provinces. Of last year's squad the following men were in uniform: G. Schurman, Charlie Fullerton, Amby Sloan, Bill Abey, Gavin Chisholm, J. E. Caldwell.

On their first showing the men look to be in good shape, but much work still remains to be done before they will arrive at the standards set by last year's team.

This year the other faculties are away ahead of Medicine. Science, Commerce, and Arts and Law have been practising faithfully for the past two weeks. So Medicine men are asked to turn out and show other faculties that the Meds. are prepared to give them all a battle for the inter-faculty title.

Will the following gentlemen, along with all those who were out last evening, and any other man in Medicine who is willing to help the team along, please be on hand at the old Campus this afternoon at 4:00 p.m.: Boyle, Parlow, McCulloch, Matthews, Lynch, Laishley, McLean. Dressing rooms have been arranged at the Union.

Jerry Aylward, of Med. '23, who was appointed manager last year, has been obliged to give up the job, due to pressure of studies. Hamilton, of Med. '26, has consented to take over the duties of manager for this year.

OPENING MEETING
NEXT WEDNESDAY

Dr. W. D. Tait Will Address
Psychological Society

The initial gathering of the Psychological Society, which was created last spring, will take the form of an open meeting to be held in Strathcona Hall on Wednesday next, October 18th, at eight o'clock. Dr. William D. Tait, Associate Professor of Psychology, and Honorary President of the Society, will deliver an address entitled:—"The Place of Psychology in a Career." Dr. Tait is widely known throughout Canada as a psychologist of high repute, and this lecture should be well-attended especially as it is an open one. All members of the university are cordially invited to be present. The study of psychology has received an impetus in recent years, and is now one of the most popular sciences studied at McGill. The President of the society, H. F. Hall, and his executive, are formulating an attractive programme for the season. "The Psychology of Mysticism" will be discussed at the second meeting of the society.

STORIES OF BOARD'S TOUR AT LUNCHEON

Principal's Promise to School Children

BRITISH IMPRESSED

Visitors Enjoyed Trip Across
Continent

In preparation of the next war Sir Arthur Currie has already been at work and should Canadians be called upon by surprise they may rest assured that there is one band of youthful warriors under oath to serve McGill's Principal through thick and thin, according to Dr. J. W. Ross. The promise was made by Sir Arthur a few weeks ago while visiting a small western town, and since his visit occasioned a half holiday in the neighboring school, he was at once sought after by the delighted scholars who half abashed at so great a personage as a university principal in their midst, were rather backward until, put at their ease by General Currie. In the course of a short talk the speaker promised to take them along with him when the next war is declared in Canada, and if the applause he won is any sign of the assent of his boyish listeners, his promise was favorably received.

The incident was one of the many told by Dr. Ross at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club, held yesterday in the Queen's Hotel. Dr. Ross was the second member of the Board of Governors of McGill to speak before a Montreal Club on the recent Trans-Canada Tour of the Montreal Board of Trade. They party spent a month visiting the main centres of the Dominion, accompanied by members of the British Government.

The purpose of the tour was partly to encourage better relations between the local Board of Trade and those of the other large centres in Canada, and partly to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the Montreal board. In the estimation of Dr. Ross this has already been noticeable, in fact, so impressed were the tourists with the spirit of the West and the many natural wonders of the Rockies and the Pacific Coast that all agree that they have never seen anything equal in splendor.

The members of the British Parliament who accompanied the party were greatly amazed at the large hotels found at Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria, to say nothing of the beauty spots of Lake Louise, Banff and other mountain resorts where they stopped off.

At this meeting another McGill graduate was added to the membership of the Kiwanis Club in the person of Dr. F. O. Anderson.

and two-fifths. This is fast work and the Red and White runners will have to travel in order to maintain the supremacy which they have had in sprints for the past few years.

In the half-mile Hamilton is the outstanding runner. The last time the intercollegiate meet was here he brought home fifteen points. This year he may repeat it but for tomorrow he is entered only in the half and the mile. As Legg, last year's winner of the event, is running, and Fry, of R.M.C. fame, is also entered, a fast race will result. Alexander is also running in this race. He is a new man of whom a lot is expected. Dempsey, of last year's hockey team, is also entered in this event. Last year he was a member of the harrier squad and is in good condition for the two-lap grind. Wilson and Watson, two second year men, who placed well last week, are likewise running in this event. Last week both were saving their strength for the races that followed and today running wide open they should do much better.

In the mile Hamilton and Legg are again entered. Both members of last year's championship team should win but several harriers are also trying the short distance and might, with their endurance, make the track men step out.

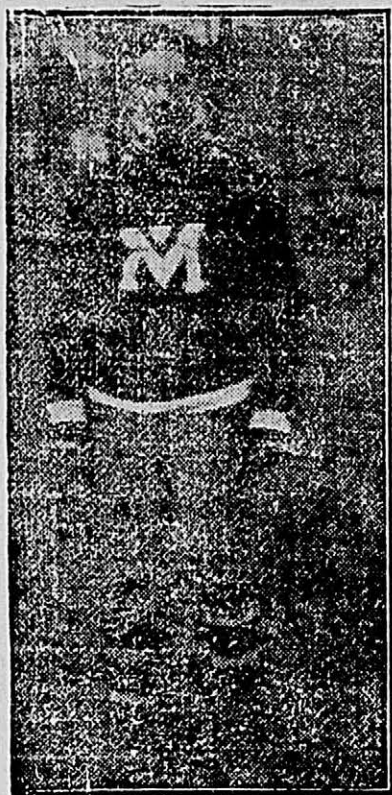

In the three-mile event Wiggins, of last year's team, is a starter. Although a favorite he may be forced out by several of the other entries, whose true worth at this event is still unknown. Grimson, who last week ran the half mile prior to this event, is entered in the endurance run only. Antcliffe, Stephens, Champion, Bishop, are all in the run and have had enough experience to know the game well. It is an event for anyone to win.

Science has a sure grip on the hurdles with Consiglio and Darling running in the event. These are both promising men and will score points, but they must travel to beat the time of seventeen flat set at Toronto on last Wednesday.

Don Foss and Amaron are entered in the weight events. Foss is one of the best hammer throwers in the country and is going to let the brass weight travel today. He is closely followed by Amaron. Jardine in the shot is a steady entry and with firm ground should place.

There is a stellar list of entries for the meet and although the facilities are

George Laing

McGill Outside Wing, who scored brilliant touchdown against Queen's, in 1914.

In some cases rather unevenly divided the larger two will have to fight for their position in the final results.

The Pine Avenue gate will be closed. The men running will be given their and the University entrance alone used, numbers as they enter the gate and should be there on time as events must be run off promptly.

The list of men entered follows. The point winners who gather five or more points in the meet tomorrow not only win a position on the intercollegiate track team but are also awarded small M's. The difficulty of winning these letters is well known and this will, of course, tend to make some of the races hard battles. In spite of the obstacles encountered in running the meet off the entries are all enthusiastic and there seems to be every chance of a splendid meet.

A DREAM COME TRUE,

The last year in college brings with it duties almost overwhelming to the youthful mind, yet they are borne with that composure and air which only a college senior can adopt. However there is one experience left to this staid individual which cannot but cause the heart of the most blasé to flutter. What college girl has not dreamed about visiting "the stacks", that place shrouded in mystery and hallowed by tales of romance.

It was, therefore, with hushed voices and hearts filled with expectation almost amounting to awe, that two members of R.V.C. '23 asked permission, one stormy night, to visit the stacks. A graceful youth guided the maidens to their scenes of effort. They descended steps, stole down corridors, stepping ostrich-like on the glass beneath them, and slipped around dimly lit corridors in pursuit of their elusive guide. Having arrived at their destination, they were deferentially indicated the volumes desired, and a secluded alcove pointed

GRIDIRON GRIST

Back in 1914 when there was a very good Queen's team on the field that was considered as about due to stir up some added interest in the intercollegiate football championship, McGill travelled up to Kingston to meet the recent upstarts in their own citadel. They expected a hard fight and they certainly got everything that they expected.

It was a see-saw affair from start to finish but the gladiators in the Red and White outfits saw to it that the saw was swinging in the right direction when the conclusion of the contest came. In this game it was a case of McGill getting off to a good start only to find that Queen's had crept up past them and gone into the lead in the last quarter when there was not an awful lot of time to waste. They didn't waste it.

The two teams were so evenly matched that the first quarter was completed without either of the teams getting a single point; this seemed to show that McGill was a little stronger as their opponents had the wind in their favor. However, when the ends were changed the redman found that things were not so easy as they seemed for, although they tried their hardest, they could only collect a single point. With the tri-color outfit again getting the aid of the strong wind at their back for the third quarter things did not look any too bright for the visitors but that was just when they began to fight.

Right at the outset of the second half of the game George Laing upset all the calculations of the home team by galloping down the field for a touchdown.

It was the kind of a play that a spectator sees but once in many seasons of football games and many never see during their careers as interested football fans. Hazlett had made a wonderful punt down the field and Laing was forced to run behind his own goal line to get it. He picked the ball out of the air five yards behind his own goal line and, eluding the opposing outside wings, started to dodge through a mass of players. Before anyone realized just what was taking place it was found that Hazlett, coming up the field after his punt, was the only man left to pass. A strong arm and a sudden dodge left the Queen's half in the rear and Laing went down the full length of the field and across the goal-line. An amusing incident happened in the course of the play when Williamson started down to cover his own player; Laing looked around in the final part of the final part of the dash and, thinking he saw an opposing player, uncorked an amazing dash of speed that sent him across the line at a terrific rate.

The touchdown was converted and McGill seemed to have a pretty safe lead for a while. However, they were playing against no weak team and they soon realized that fact. Jack Hazlett, the Queen's star of many seasons got his mighty boot in action and forced the McGill backs to rouge twice in succession for a couple of points and then, to make things more interesting, the fighting bunch of Presbyterians had to shoot the ball across the line for a touchdown. This was not converted but the score was tied nevertheless when the third quarter ended.

The wind was bestowing its kindly glances in the direction of the McGill team when the final quarter started but, as if to defy the aid which nature was giving the visitors, Jack Hazlett started proceedings by once more kicking over his opponents line for another rouge. Things were beginning to look pretty serious.

Then the real battle started for some pretty quick action was needed. Not only was the Queen's lead lost but they were not allowed to score another point. Just about as fast as would seem possible in a football game Laing had sent high spirals over the Queen's line three times in succession and the halfbacks on the Limestone city team were downed for rouges by the hard working outside wings. Another rouge was sent over the line and then "Monty" Montgomery, to settle all doubts as to the outcome of the game, caught one of Hazlett's punts and dodging through a dozen or so of the Queen's team went over the line for a touchdown.

It was a typical McGill finish. The team when seemingly about to suffer a defeat at the hands of a stronger team carried off the honours of the day by a last minute stand as a result of magnificent fighting spirit. They refused to acknowledge defeat when the spectators were ready to give a rousing reception to the home squad as the victors of the day.

On that occasion the teams were evenly matched in many directions with Queen's seeming to have the edge in some respects. The tri-color team, with the great Jack Hazlett to do the punting, was expected to have the edge on the halfline where McGill had some more or less untried material, while their wing line was remarkably strong as was witnessed by the number of times they were successful in making yards against McGill.

This year McGill has a wingline that seems to be the equal if not the superior of any team in the intercollegiate series. The halfline seems to stand as a second to the great trio that will represent Queen's to-morrow but they are a set of battlers who will fight every inch of the way during the contest.

Every student at the university who can possibly do so will be out at the game to-morrow to see their favourites in action and they are expecting to see a game that will not reflect any discredit on the unbroken list of triumphs that have been recorded by former McGill teams whether they won their games or not. The preliminary work of the present year's team has shown that they are not unworthy to represent their university and, whether Queen's wins or loses the game to-morrow, the visitors will return to Kingston knowing that they have played a hard game against a team that will never admit defeat until the final whistle blows.

out for the perusal of these books.

One of the pair more industrious than the other, commenced to delve into serious questions concerning this old world of ours, while the latter wandered about the dark aisles in pursuit of romance. Suddenly she came to life, as she almost stepped off a part of the structure yet unfinished. Having finished her explorations this maiden sat down to work. Her intentions were good, no doubt, but the alcove seemed very deserted and weary. The slightest movement resounded through the long aisles with astounding volumes she thought that a cricket chirped and almost felt the ghostly hands of the library ghost steal about her.

The glamour of the experience faded speedily but an alternative thought made her shiver as she thought of the possibilities of this secluded nook.

In the midst of her reveries the closing gong sounded with grim persistency through the echoing building. With a sigh the two seniors closed their dingy volumes and made their uncertain way out of the historic place of their dreams.

Rooters Songs

HAIL ALMA MATER

Hail Alma Mater, we sing to thy praise,
Great our affection, though feeble our lays,
Nestling so peaceful and calm 'neath the hill
Fondly we love thee, our dear Old McGill.

Hail Alma Mater, we sing to thy praise,
Loud in thy honour, our voices we raise;
Full in thy fortune, our glasses we fill,
Life and Prosperity, dear Old McGill.

Hail Alma Mater, thy praises

we sing
Far down the centuries still may they ring.
Long through the ages remain—if God will.
Queen of Colleges, Dear Old McGill.

D'YE KEN JOHN PEEL

D'ye ken John Peel with his coat so gray,
D'ye ken John Peel at the break of day,
D'ye ken John Peel when he's far, far away
With his hounds and his horn in the morning.

Yes, I ken John Peel and Ruby, too.

Ranter and Ringwood, Bellman and True,
From a find to a check, from a check to a view
From a view to a death in the morning.

Then here's to John Peel, from my heart and soul
Let's drink to his health, let's finish the bowl.
We'll follow John Peel thro' fair and thro' foul,
If we want a good hunt in the morning.

D'ye ken John Peel with his coat so gay,
He lived at the Trout-beck once on a day.
Now he has gone far, far, far away.

We shall ne'er hear his voice in the morning.

Tune: GEORGETTE.

Poor Queens, Poor Queens,
We're sorry for you,

"Monty" Montgomery

Quarter-back, who scored touchdown in sensational game in 1914.

Poor Queens, Poor Queens,
But what can we do.
Our boys, our noise,
Show that we're the cream.
No matter, the chatter team

You know, 'tis so,
We'll lay it on thick,
Our play, to-day
Will make you feel sick.
Our cheers, poor dears,
Will land you in tears,
It means, such scenes,
Poor Queens.

COME FILL YOUR GLASSES UP

Come fill your glasses up
To McGill, McGill, McGill,
Come drink a loving cup
To McGill, McGill, McGill,
We will drink the wine to-night,
Drink the wine that makes hearts light,
Come fill your glasses up
To McGill, McGill, McGill,
Come sing a joyous song,
To McGill, McGill, McGill,
Sing as we march along
To McGill, McGill, McGill,
We will rally on the field,
We will make our rivals yield,
Vict'ry shall crown the Shield
To McGill, McGill, McGill,

TENNIS STARS ALL A-PEAR AT PRACTICE

Intercollegiate Tournament
Takes Place at Kingston

OCT. 19TH—21ST.

Red and White Team Appears Stronger This Year

After a week of bad weather, local tennis stars are again getting down to work and during yesterday afternoon several of last year's team were out on the courts. The intercollegiate tennis tournament is less than a week away but the prospects for McGill are very bright. The matches will be played at Kingston this season, continuing for three days, October 19th, 20th and 21st. Although the college team has not been definitely chosen as yet, the names of Crocker, Ramsey, Douglas, Maurice, McDougall and Brown are being mentioned, although those who are participating in the tournament are being kept under close observation as possibilities.

With the above collection of racket wielders, it is quite probable that once again intercollegiate honors will go to the Red and White. Crocker is a court man carrying an enviable reputation, being well experienced in tournament work and swinging a powerful and accurate racket. Ramsey and Douglas are also well known in tennis circles and are well tried veterans of past seasons.

Maurice, Brown and McDougall rank high and can be relied upon to sustain the reputation of the college in this branch of sport.

Wright, who stands among the very best in McGill, was looked upon as a starter but it was definitely learned today that he is ineligible under the intercollegiate ruling concerning academic standing. This is to be regretted, as Wright would have undoubtedly been a tower of strength to the McGill team.

During the last three years, three successive tennis championships have gone to the Red and White, two tournaments having been played at McGill and one at Varsity during that time. Last year the tournaments were played on the local courts, the first matches being between Queen's, the Royal Military College and McGill. Varsity was unable to enter the tournament was uncompleted at the Queen City, but representatives of the Blue and White journeyed here at a later date. In both instances McGill successfully defended her title and those who witnessed the matches, will remember the excellent showing made.

Crocker, although he played two years ago, was unable to play last season. Since that time he has acquired the championship titles of Quebec and Ontario, and consequently this year's team will be even stronger than that of last year.

Vague reports have been issuing from the strongholds of Queen's, R.M.C. and Varsity, but nothing definite has been learned as yet about the strength of these respective teams. The men's tournament opened at Queen's on October 3rd, and there were well over forty entries. This indicates clearly that there is plenty of material to choose from and Queen's should prove a strong contender.

Varsity supporters are also hopeful and they will send down a dangerous aggregation. It has not been learned as yet whether Thomas, of Varsity's last year team, will be seen in intercollegiate action this year or not.
